

March 18-19, 2009
Mandarin Oriental Hotel
Washington, D.C.

Avivah Litan

Vice President and Distinguished Analyst
Gartner, Inc.

Avivah Litan has been with the research firm Gartner, Inc. since 1998. She started out in the Financial Services practice and since moved to the Information Security and Risk team. Ms. Litan specializes in fraud prevention and detection applications, authentication, information security, risk management, and payment systems.

Ms. Litan has over twenty years' experience in the computer industry, and last worked as a senior manager responsible for the financial and other information systems at the World Bank, where she managed over 100 staff and several global applications.

She simultaneously wrote a weekly computer column for the Washington Times. Prior to joining the World Bank, she worked for Booz-Allen & Hamilton consulting, Sperry Univac, national columnist Jack Anderson, and a weekly newspaper in Boston.

Ms. Litan earned her MS degree at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and completed a General Managers course at Harvard Business School.

Ms. Litan is a frequently quoted industry analyst, and a winner of the Gartner 2005 Thought Leadership Award and 2006 Outstanding Research Achievement Award.

Presented by

In cooperation with

Economist Intelligence Unit

The Economist